THE FOUR SISTERS
A Tule of Social and Domestic Life in Swalen.
BY FREDRIKA BRUMER.

Author of "The Neighbors," "Nina," "The H-Family," etc., etc. TRANSLATED BY MARY HOWITT. omplete in one large volume, neatly bound cloth, for One Dollar and Twenty-five Cents; or two volumes, paper cover, for one Dollar.

Read what the Editor of the Sunday Dispatch says of it:—"We are sure that every lover of a pure and healthy literature will welcome this translation, by Mary Howitt, of the last story of the gentle and amiable Swedish authoress. The purity of the writings of Miss Bremer, their sympathetic power, and the excellent morals which ever inculcates, render her novels welcome to the Family Circle. They teach patience, affection and endurance, in such a manner as to improve and gratify every mind. This story is quite equal to her best and proceeds with a mild and artistic delineation to the denouement. We specially recommend it as a story which it will do any one good to read. The edition is authorized by Miss Bremer, and it contains a dedication by herself to the memory of her friend, the late A. J. Downing."

Read what the editor of the Saturday Ecening Post says:—

Read what the editor of the Saturday Ecening Past says:

"The Four Sisters, by Fredrika Bremer, is one of those novels, by this genial author, which have so pleasantly opened to us the doors of Swedish homes, warmed our hearts to their cheerful fireside glow, and made us familiar with the lights and shadows of Swedish life. Perhaps in this work the shadows predommate, or at least appear strongly, for the subject of the story is a woman's life and a woman's fate, in a country where, as Mrs. Browning puts it, there is

"no help for women weeping out of sight, Because men made the laws." mirable stories of hiro women weeping out of sight, Because men made the laws.

Miss Bremer's adhesion to what is known in this country as 'Woman's Rights,' is well known, and this novel may be considered her illustrations and defence of her views on that subject. Apart from all considerations of this nature, the novel is full of rich humor, clever character painting, and felicitous descriptions of town life and country life, and indoor and outdoor scenery in Sweden. The translation has been made by Mary Howitt, who seems born to do two things remarkably well—write admirable stories of her own, and admirably translate the stories of his Bremer."

Read what the Daily Times says of it:

"Miss Bremer possesses, beyond any other living writer of her class, the power of realizing to the imagination every individual she introduces. The moral beauty and womanly purity which steadily illuminate her narative, must receive implicit admiration from all persons. We would advise all to to buy and read this book."

Copies of either edition of the above work will be sent to any person, to any part of the United States, free of postage, on their remitting the price of the edition they may wish, to the publishers in a letter. Address all orders to

At the present time there is quite a large number of persons who will not be trusted at all, and there is a much larger portion of the community who cannot get credit any where, but are obliged to pay cash at credit prices. These two classes form, perhaps, more than one-half of our population and there is no good reason why a poor main death of the people will only bestow one thought upon the subject they will at once see that—paying customers assume all the bad debts, or, in other words, they take all the risks of the credit system. The present time is very discouraging for making debts, the obligations of the people are now very large, larger by far than the crops this season will declarge.
